

AMENDMENTS TO THE CLAIMS

Claims 1-45 (Cancelled)

46. (new) A rewindable flexible film for obtaining structurally stable objects, said film being at least partially associated with a structurally transformable substance which is inert with respect to said film and at least a passive activator for said substance, said activator being inert with respect to said film, said activator and said substance being able to form an agglomerate with said film, said activator when energized starting a structurally transformation of said substance.